```
during the summer, I took an introductory computer science class that introduced me to the world of computer programs and coding languages. Ever since then, day after day, I have had the opportunity to let my creative juices flow and innovate more efficient methods of using technologies, as well
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         I entered college as a Mechanical Engineering student. However, after my first year in college, I'm Adeel, a full stack developer with a special interest in user-experience design.
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               At the moment, I am a junior at the University of Rochester, pursuing degrees in Computer Science and Applied Mathematics.
                                                                                                                   <title>Who am I? -Adeel Qayum</title>
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     as building new technologies.

                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          <h1>/h1>
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            <d/>>
                                      <html lang="en">
<!DOCTYPE html>

                                                                                                                                        </head>
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        </bod>>
                                                                                                   <head>
                                                                                                                                                                               <bod>
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  </html>
                                                                            5 ▼ <html>
                                                                                                                                                                            10 v
11
                                                                                                  ► 6
8 0
6
                                                                                                                                                                                                                    12 <sup>4</sup> 13 14 <sup>4</sup> 15 16 17
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        18 ∓
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         19
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                21
22
23
23
24
25
25
26
27
28
29
30
```